Privacy Policy

Last updated · 22 November 2026

01 Data controller

ONIRIA is an audiovisual creative project that has not been incorporated as a company. Javier González Barranco determines the purposes and means of the data processing described in this policy for www.oniriastudioai.com.

Javier González Barranco · NIF 53801988C
Calle de San Antón, 19, 28982 Parla, Madrid, Spain
oniriaconnect@gmail.com

02 Scope of this policy

This policy applies to browsing and website security, public profiles in CREATORS, works and credits in ORIGINALS, the management of permissions, and communications with ONIRIA, including enquiries about STUDIO projects and collaborations.

Membership registration, applications to join and the private directory in GUILD are currently inactive. ONIRIA will provide information about any new data processing before enabling these features or adding tools to STUDIO for handling commissions through the website.

03 Personal data and where it comes from

Profiles, works and permissions. Name or professional name, professional photographs, biography, career history, specialisms, portfolio, professional links, titles, descriptions, works, credits and information needed to record permissions, such as identity, date, scope of permission and signature, where applicable. Creators and rights holders provide these materials. If a third party supplies data about someone else, ONIRIA will inform that person as required under Article 14 of the GDPR.

Communications. The name, email address and message content a person provides when contacting ONIRIA.

Browsing and preferences. IP address, browser or device information, identifiers, technical logs and, depending on the settings, the date, time and consent preferences. This information is generated when you use the website or its features.

04 Purposes, legal bases and retention

The legal bases below refer to Article 6(1) of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

Publishing profiles in CREATORS. The individual's consent to publish their approved information and materials (point (a)). Participation is voluntary.
Retention. The profile stays public for as long as ONIRIA has valid permission to publish it.

Presenting works and credits in ORIGINALS. Consent to publish authorised personal data, images or credits (point (a)). ONIRIA obtains this consent separately from consent to publish a profile or use the materials for additional promotional purposes.
Retention. The work and associated personal data remain visible for as long as ONIRIA has valid permission to display them.

Managing permissions and withdrawals. ONIRIA has a legal obligation to demonstrate consent and handle requests to exercise data protection rights (point (c), Articles 7(1) and 12). ONIRIA may retain essential evidence for its legitimate interest in defending claims, after balancing the interests and rights involved (point (f)).
Retention. Signed permissions and related records are kept for as long as legally justified to demonstrate permissions, handle withdrawals or address liabilities and claims.

Communications and enquiries. ONIRIA has a legitimate interest in responding to and following up on messages (point (f)). Point (b) applies when an individual requests a quote or other steps before entering into a contract, or when processing is necessary to perform their contract. ONIRIA needs essential contact details to respond or handle the request.
Retention. Normally up to 12 months after the matter is closed, unless a legitimate reason justifies keeping the data longer.

Website operation and security. ONIRIA has a legitimate interest in keeping the website available, detecting faults, preventing abuse and managing incidents (point (f)).
Retention. Technical logs are kept for as long as needed to operate the website and manage incidents, depending on their purpose and the provider's actual settings.

Cookie preferences. Consent is the legal basis for processing linked to optional technologies that require it (point (a)). ONIRIA has a legal obligation to respect and demonstrate the visitor's choice, which requires keeping a record of their preferences (point (c)).
Retention. Each technology is subject to the duration stated in the Cookie Policy. Records of the visitor's choice are kept for as long as needed to honour the choice and demonstrate how it was handled.

Legal compliance and claims. ONIRIA processes data to meet legal obligations or comply with valid requests (point (c)). It has a legitimate interest in establishing, exercising or defending claims, after balancing the interests and rights involved (point (f)).
Retention. For the applicable statutory periods and for as long as needed to handle and document the matter.

05 Deletion and restricted retention

ONIRIA generally deletes working files for withdrawn profiles or works within 30 days of the effective withdrawal, unless there is a justified reason to keep them. Where blocking is required under Article 32 of Spanish Organic Law 3/2018, the data are set aside with restricted access for the applicable limitation period and deleted afterwards.

Social media posts and paid ads. See section 15.

06 Publication and visibility of content

Published profiles and works can be accessed from any country and may appear in search results. ONIRIA publishes only authorised professional details and materials. Publishing any professional contact details requires specific permission. Taking part in the platform does not create an employment relationship, imply exclusive representation or guarantee work.

07 Service providers and other recipients

Wix. Wix hosts the website and provides its technical infrastructure. Wix and its subprocessors may process data about the website and its visitors on behalf of ONIRIA for those services. Wix Data Processing Agreement · Wix list of subprocessors.

Usercentrics for Wix (Usercentrics GmbH). This tool manages cookie preferences on the website and records the visitor's choice, the date and time and, depending on the settings, technical information about the device or connection. Usercentrics privacy information.

Google. Gmail hosts ONIRIA's official inbox for receiving and handling messages and attachments. YouTube displays audiovisual content. If you follow a link to YouTube or an embedded player loads, Google may receive your IP address, browser or device information and data about your interactions. Google processes the data it collects for its own purposes under its Privacy Policy.

Other recipients. Visitors and search engines may access published data. Courts and competent authorities may receive data where a legal obligation applies or in response to a valid request.

08 International data transfers

Wix. Wix states that Wix.com Ltd. initially processes visitor data in Israel. The European Commission has adopted an adequacy decision for transfers to Israel that fall within its scope (Article 45 of the GDPR). Wix provides for onward transfers to deliver its services and documents its use of European Commission standard contractual clauses where no adequacy decision applies (Article 46 of the GDPR).

Google. Google's documentation for Gmail and YouTube describes processing that may take place outside the European Economic Area. Google states that Google LLC participates in the EU-U.S. Data Privacy Framework for covered transfers and describes its use of standard contractual clauses where applicable. Google data transfer frameworks.

You can ask for information about the safeguards that apply to ONIRIA's data processing and, where applicable, request a copy by emailing oniriaconnect@gmail.com.

09 Cookies and third-party content

Technologies that require consent are governed by Article 22(2) of Spanish Law 34/2002 and, where they process personal data, by the GDPR. You can accept, reject or change your preferences through Usercentrics for Wix. If an embedded player uses technologies that require consent, your choice also applies to that player. The website's Cookie Policy describes the technologies used, their purposes, providers and duration.

10 Withdrawing consent and removing content

You can withdraw your consent to publish your profile, personal data or authorised materials at any time. Email oniriaconnect@gmail.com and tell us which profile, work or content you want removed. If possible, include a link so ONIRIA can locate it.

ONIRIA will handle the withdrawal without undue delay and stop publishing the affected content under its control. Where applicable, it will take the reasonable steps required by the GDPR in relation to links or copies held by third parties. Search engines and other independent services may take time to update their results or copies.

Withdrawing consent does not affect the lawfulness of processing carried out before withdrawal on the basis of that consent. ONIRIA may retain essential documentation with restricted access to demonstrate permissions, meet its obligations or handle claims, as described in section 4.

11 Your data protection rights

You can request access to, rectification or erasure of your personal data, restriction of processing and data portability, and you may object to processing, where applicable. You can also withdraw consent at any time where consent is the legal basis for processing.

Send your request to oniriaconnect@gmail.com. State which right you wish to exercise and which data or content it concerns. If there are reasonable doubts about your identity, ONIRIA may ask for the information strictly necessary to confirm it.

ONIRIA will respond within one month of receiving your request. If the complexity or number of requests makes an extension necessary, ONIRIA may extend the deadline by up to two further months and will explain the extension and its reasons within the first month. You can lodge a complaint with the Spanish Data Protection Agency (AEPD).

12 Security and confidentiality

ONIRIA applies technical and organisational measures appropriate to the risks, including account protection, access controls and incident management. Access to private information is limited to authorised persons who need it for the purposes described in this policy.

13 Children's personal data and images

Before publishing children's personal data or images, ONIRIA will check the requirements for data protection, image rights and legal representation, as well as any required permissions. This applies both to potential profiles in CREATORS and to children appearing in audiovisual works or materials.

14 Changes to this policy

ONIRIA will update this policy when the website's features, service providers or the processing described here change. Where applicable, ONIRIA will inform the individuals affected and obtain fresh consent before starting the relevant processing.

15 Social media and paid ads

Purpose and permissions

ONIRIA may showcase your participation and your work through posts on its official accounts or through paid ads and boosted posts on those platforms. Each use is based on specific, voluntary consent (Article 6(1)(a) GDPR), requested separately in the authorisation form. You can also decide separately whether to allow your profile or works to appear on the website.

Materials that may be used

ONIRIA will use the profile photos, cover images and links you have approved for sharing to showcase your participation. These materials may show your likeness or include your professional name and any credits appearing in them. ONIRIA uses the email address and signature on the form to manage and document your permissions under section 4.

Who may receive the materials

Social media users and people shown an ad may see the materials. Social media platforms and their advertising services may also receive them. These services may process data for their own purposes under their respective privacy policies.

International transfers

Depending on the platform, materials may be processed outside the European Economic Area. If ONIRIA makes an international transfer, it will rely on the applicable adequacy decision or safeguards and provide information about them as set out in section 8. You can ask which platforms will be used and request information on their safeguards by emailing oniriaconnect@gmail.com.

Retention and withdrawal of permission

ONIRIA will keep posts and ads available for as long as they are needed for the authorised purpose and permission remains valid. You can withdraw permission at any time by emailing oniriaconnect@gmail.com. If you withdraw permission for ads, ONIRIA will stop the affected ads under its control. If you withdraw permission for posts, it will remove the affected posts under its control. ONIRIA may keep evidence of permission under section 4. Section 10 explains how to request withdrawal and what happens with third-party copies.