Legal notice

Last updated · 22 November 2026

1. Website operator

The website https://www.oniriastudioai.com (referred to as ‘ONIRIA’) is operated by Javier González Barranco, Spanish tax identification number 53801988C, with an address at Calle de San Antón, 19, 28982 Parla, Madrid, Spain and contact email oniriaconnect@gmail.com.

ONIRIA is a creative project initiated by its founders and currently operates without an incorporated company.

2. Nature and purpose

ONIRIA is a platform for audiovisual creation, showcasing works and presenting creative professionals. It comprises HOME, ORIGINALS, CREATORS, GUILD and STUDIO. Its purpose is to showcase works and professionals, foster creative connections and facilitate projects and collaborations.

During the initial phase, some community, registration and professional collaboration features may still be in development. Website content is provided for information. Community admission, publication of works, representation and engagement are subject to the relevant agreements or confirmations. A presence on the website carries no guarantee of work opportunities or income.

2.1 ONIRIA STUDIO

ONIRIA STUDIO develops audiovisual projects and content using AI tools, either directly or in collaboration with independent professionals according to each commission. Participation in CREATORS or GUILD is compatible with professional independence and does not in itself create an employment relationship, exclusive representation or an obligation to engage anyone.

Each commissioned service will be governed by a specific agreement covering its scope, fees, deadlines and usage rights.

3. Intellectual property and permissions

Rights in ONIRIA’s visual identity, design, text and other original materials belong to their lawful holders. Rights in audiovisual works, photographs, illustrations, music, biographies, portfolios and other third-party content remain with their respective holders. Showcasing a work on ONIRIA does not transfer ownership.

Publishing third-party materials requires the relevant licences and permissions, including image rights and, where applicable, permissions under the terms of the AI tools used.

Viewing content does not in itself grant permission to copy, distribute, modify or exploit it, subject to uses permitted by law. Commercial, advertising and promotional uses must fall within the scope of the permission granted. Additional permission will be sought for uses outside that scope.

Legal notice

Last updated · 22 November 2026

4. Public CREATORS profiles

CREATORS showcases an editorial selection of creative professionals. Each profile will be published after the person concerned has approved the information and materials to be displayed, including their name, photographs, biography, specialties, works and links.

ONIRIA may determine how profiles are presented, ordered and rotated. Selection is editorial and confers no ranking, professional certification, guarantee of engagement or exclusive representation. Publication of a profile does not in itself create an ongoing employment or contractual relationship.

Requests to correct or remove information may be sent to oniriaconnect@gmail.com. ONIRIA's Privacy Policy describes how personal data is processed and how to exercise the relevant rights.

5. Website use and external links

Visitors must use ONIRIA lawfully and respect third-party intellectual property, industrial property, image and data protection rights. Impersonation, unauthorised bulk data extraction, fraudulent use of content and interference with the operation of the platform are prohibited.

The site may link to external websites, portfolios and audiovisual playback services such as YouTube. These services may be subject to their own terms of use and privacy policies.

ONIRIA will review substantiated reports of possible rights infringements and take appropriate action under applicable law.

6. Contact, services and updates

Legal enquiries, complaints and notices concerning copyright, image rights or published content may be sent to oniriaconnect@gmail.com.

ONIRIA STUDIO's terms, quotes and agreements will be provided before any service is contracted. Entering into a contract requires acceptance of the relevant terms.